scarce: The former Editions
printed on a Black Letter.

on Midsummer Day, for the Election of the Sheriffs of London, &c.

MY Lord-Mayor and the Aldermen,
with the Sheriffs, meet at the Guildhall, at Eight of the Clock in the Morning, dressed in their Violet Gowns lined, and their Cloaks of Scarlet lined; without their hats.

And when they have been together in the Council-Chamber a certain Time, concerning the Nomination of certain Persons to be elected, my Lord and the Aldermen come out, and put on their Cloaks in the Orphans Court, and then go down in Order to the Sessions Court; and there being set, Mr.
Recorder standeth up and maketh his obedience, first to my Lord, and then unto the Commons, and declareth unto them wherein they are assembled together, shewing
to them that it is for the Election of one of the Sheriffs of London and the Sheriff of Middlesex for the year next ensuing, and the confirmation of the other Sheriff nominated by my Lord-Mayor, according to his Prerogative,

gative, and also for Mr. Chamberlain and other Officers.

But my Lord and the Aldermen go up to my Lord's Court, and there remain until the Sheriff be named and chosen, the Door is shut to them.

Then Mr. Sheriffs, Mr. Chamberlain, Mr. Common-Serjeant, Mr. Town-Clerk, and the Councillors of the City, and other Officers, remain still in the Hustings-Court to take and receive the Name of him that shall seem by their Judgments freely and with one consent to be nominated and elected, and justly tried out, not only by Voice, but also by Hands, to be Sheriff for the Year following.

Then the Commons go to the Election. Mr. Chamberlain, the two Bridgemaisters, the Auditors of the City and Bridgehouse Accounts, and the Surveyors of Beer and Ale, according to the accustomed Manner.

That done, the Sheriffs, Master Chamberlain, Master Common Serjeant, Master Town-Clerk, the Councillors of the City, the two Secondaries, and the Wardens of the head Companies, Master Common Crier going before them with his Mace, carry up the Report to my Lord and the Aldermen of the said Election.

Which Report received, my Lord and the Aldermen come down again to the Hustings-Court.

court, and there being set in order and placed, Master Recorder standeth up as he did before, and maketh Rehearsal of the Names of those whom they have nominated and chosen, asking them whether it be their free election, yea or no? And they grant, Yea, Then Master Recorder giveth them
 thanks, and so they arise and depart home.

 Smithfield.*

THE Aldermen meet my Lord and the Sheriffs, at the Guildhall Chapel at Two of the clock after Dinner, in their Vio-

 which being done, they take their Horses, and ride to Newgate, and so forth of the

Then when the Wrestling is done, they take their Horses and ride back again through the Fair, and so in at Aldersgate, and so home again to the said Lord-Mayor's House.

And if the Sheriff be an Alderman, then they must put on their Cloak, and the Sheriff likewise his Cloak, and so go to the Guild-hall between two of the Gray Cloaks: And if the Sheriff be no Alderman, then to come between two of the Aldermen without Cloaks, and the Sheriff in his Livery Gown and his Hood. And after, when he is sworn, then to put on his Violet Gown and Cloak, and his Chain thereon; and the Aldermen must bring him Home to his Place, with their Cloaks, to Dinner, and so after Dinner take their Pleasure.

*Upon Michaelmas Day, for the Election
my Lord-Mayor.*

ALL the Aldermen meet my Lord and the Sheriffs at Eight of the Clock the Morning at Guildhall, in their Scar Gowns and their Cloaks furred, and the Horses: And after they have been a certain time together in the Council Chamber, they come forth into the Orphans Court and put on their Cloaks, and so go in Order to the Chapel, there hearing Service and Sermon and my Lord with certain Aldermen receive the Communion.

And then after the Communion ended, as they have offered, return again into the Council Chamber, and pausing a While, return to the Place where the Hustings is kept and being set in Order, Master Recorder ariseth up and maketh his Obeysance first to my Lord, and after to the Commons, and declareth unto them, That they of old Custom know, that the Cause of their Assembly and Meeting together is, for the Election of the Lord-Mayor for the Year ensuing; declaring unto them divers Grants from the King and his Progenitors for this their Election from Time to Time. That done, my Lord and the Aldermen go up into my Lord's Court, and there tarry (the Door being shut to them) ill the Election be brought to them. Then standeth up Master Common Serjeant, (the Sheriff's standing on either side of him, and by the Sheriffs, Master Chamberlain, Master Town-Clerk, the two Secondaries, and the Counsellors of the City) in the said Hustings Court before the Commons; and he the said Common Serjeant maketh a short Rehearsal of that Mr. Recorder had spoken to them before, saying, There resteth no more for him to say, but to put them in remembrance in what Order and Sort they should use themselves in their Election; that is, How they must nominate and choose Two, of the which Two my Lord and the Aldermen must confirm One. Which Two being nominated, elected to and chosen, Mr. Common Serjeant, the Sheriffs, with the rest before named, and certain of the head Wardens of the chief Companies, go up to my Lord and the Aldermen, and there present the Names of those Two which the Commons have nominated in their Election.

Then the Lord-Mayor and the Aldermen proceed by Scrutiny to elect One of these Two Persons which the said Commons had before nominated. Then cometh down my Lord again to the Hustings Court, and he whom they have chosen on his left Hand, and so my Lord and the Aldermen sit down again in Order; but he who is chosen sitteth next unto my my Lord on his left hand. Then standeth Mr. Recorder up, and readeth unto them the Names of the Persons whom they have nominated and chosen, of which my Lord and the Aldermen have admitted one, whose Name is N. asking them, whether it be their free Election, yea or no? And the Commons answer, Yea, yea. Then the Sword-Bearer taketh off his Tippet, and hath it for his labour, and putteth on his Chain, and the Mayor new elected standeth upon the Hustings Court, and giveth Thanks, &c. The being done, the old Mayor doth likewise give them Thanks, &c. Then they arise up and put off their Cloaks, and my Lord-Mayor hath the Lord elect riding with him to the eldest Sheriff's to Dinner.

For the presenting of my Lord Elect to the Lord Chancellor (or Lord Keeper.)

THEN after Dinner my Lord Elect goeth to my Lord Chancellor (or Lord Keeper) if he be at Home at his Place, or near unto it, with five or six of the Aldermen and Master Recorder with him, in their Viol Gowns, either by Foot or by Water, as the Dwelling-Place of the Chancellor (or Lord Keeper) requireth. The Common Hunt with the extraordinary Officers, and those that be at liberty, attend on him.

The Morrow after Michaelmas Day for the Sheriffs going to Westminster.

ALL the Aldermen must be at the two Sheriffs Houses in the Morning at Eight of the Clock, in their Violet Gowns furred, and their Horses, without Cloaks: But my Lord, Master Recorder and the two Sheriffs must be in their Scarlet Gowns furred, and their Cloak born to Westminster with them, and so ride to the Guildhall, and from thence to the Vinetree, and there taking Barge land at Westminster-Bridge, and in the Hall put on their Cloaks, and so go up to the Exchequer; and there the two new Sheriffs be presented, and the old sworn to their Account.

The following Letter, Statement of Accounts, List of City Officers, and their mode of admission, will, it is hoped, add considerably to the utility of this little Volume.

A Letter from Mr. Alderman Wilkes, to the "Committee to enquire into the State of the City's Cash, from the Year 1765, to the Year 1775, to enquire into the probable Expence attending the Mayoralty of the City, and also the certain Income, and probable Receipts accruing to the said Office."

GENTLEMEN,

June 15, 1776.

It was with particular pleasure I heard that the Court of Common Council had appointed a "Committee to enquire into the state of the City's cash, from the year 1765, to the year 1775; to enquire into the probable expences attending the Mayoralty of this City, and also the certain income, and probable receipts accruing to the said office." You have with great propriety seconded the just view of that Court, "in requesting the favour of every gentleman, who hath passed the office of Mayoralty, to furnish the Committee with a particular account as possible, of receipts and payments during each of their Mayoralties; a request with which every gentleman, I am persuaded, will very readily comply.—I inclose you, gentlemen, a paper entitled, "Profits incident to the Mayoralty," which was delivered to me by the deputy Town-Clerk*, when I was Lord Mayor elect, and likewise the accounts of the receipts and expence during my Mayoralty. When the accounts of all the gentlemen, who have passed the chair, are brought in, I believe it will appear, that chiefly from the late prodigious increase of the price of provisions, and the decrease of the value of money, the expences of the office, when it has been supported with dignity, have in general greatly exceeded the income, including contingencies. The contingencies may be calculated from another paper, which I likewise enclose, and received from the deputy Town-Clerk, entitled, "A List of the several Officers of the City, with an account how they are admitted, and what the several places in the disposal of the Lord Mayor have been sold for, or alienated, 1774."

* Mr. Rix, now Town-Clerk.

It is, in my opinion, truly worthy the consideration of gentlemen, who have at heart the support of the honour and dignity of the capital, to make such ample provision for the maintenance of their Chief Magistrate, that the splendor, magnificence, and hospitality, which the nature of that high office requires, may be always preserved, without injury to the private individual, or his family. Magistrates, capable of discharging that important, judicial trust, with superior ability and integrity, to the entire satisfaction of all their fellow-citizens, may not be the most opulent members of the corporation. The most opulent may not always be distinguished for knowledge, sagacity, or that attachment to the public cause, which ought to mark a man in public life. The office itself, I may venture to affirm, is that, which of all in this country, calls for the strictest attendance, and most unremitting vigilance. A Lord Mayor's duty to this great city admits of no vacation, scarcely a single day's interval from public business. After a whole year's incessant labours in the service of the City, I am sure his fellow-citizens will not expect their first Magistrate to make the additional sacrifice to them of a part of his private fortune. I do not mean to make invidious comparisons between the inadequate revenue of your Chief Magistrate, and the enormous salaries of all the great officers of the state, but permit me to say, that not one of them is obliged to support the regular expence, and the large household establishment of a Lord Mayor of London, or expected to entertain, in the same manner, foreigners of rank and distinction.

Indulge me, gentlemen, in one more remark although it is not strictly within the order of the present reference. I know, however, and respect your generous zeal in the service of the City, your strong inclination and abilities to do good. I wish to plead the cause of all future Sheriffs, as well as Mayors, and indeed of most of our fellow-citizens. I hope the powers of the Committee will be enlarged, and that you will be instructed to take likewise into consideration the expence of the arduous office of Sheriff, which in the year 1772, was found to amount to above eighteen hundred pounds. Some of our fellow-citizens have formerly been compelled, from very unworthy motives of revenge and faction, to serve that office, or to pay a large pecuniary fine. As the offices of Mayor and Sheriff are the only burthensome offices of our corporation, it surely becomes the honour of the City, to support the proper expence of their officers without loss or prejudice to their families. The liberal spirit which now prevails, makes me think the present moment favourable for gentlemen to propose whatever regulation they may think conducive to the advantage of our fellow-citizens at large, and the real honour of the first City in the British Empire.

I am, with great regard,

Gentlemen,

Your very humble servant,

JOHN WILKES
